Presentation to the Project Mgt Institute (PMI) in Singapore

March 2005 - Pragmatic Software Newsletters

Tools for Project Management

This month's newsletter is a presentation that is being given in March to the Project Management Institute (PMI) in Singapore. This format is different from our normal monthly tips newsletter, but we decided to present this information to you, as it contains some interesting case studies about how companies use software to manage their projects.

Tools for Project Management

Pragmatic Software was invited to present to the Project Management Institute (PMI) chapter in Singapore. The presentation below is narrated and discusses the PMI, project management tools and case studies that show how different companies manage their projects.

We hope you enjoy it. Below is the presentation:
